NOTICE TO ALL STUDENTS

Effective September 13, 2001

The use of this facility is specifically designed for instructional support that is considered a supplement a student's program of study, or which is prescribed specifically by a faculty member. Any activity which deviates from this designation is prohibited.

Your use of this facility is contingent upon your signing in and signing out. If you fail to sign in and out, you will not be allowed to use the lab or its tutorial supports.

In addition, and for the sake of clarification, the following activities are prohibited in this facility, and your signature indicates your understanding and compliance of these rules:

1. Any downloading of programs onto the hard drive of a computer which is not a part of a program prescribed by a faculty member.
2. Any form of chat room activity, unless it is related to an instructional activity prescribed by a faculty member.
3. Any games - chess, checkers, solitaire, etc.
4. Any Internet sites not related to an instructional program prescribed by a faculty member.
5. Any e-mail activity which is not referenced to a faculty member or other member of the college community.
6. Cell phones are only permitted when students use them outside of the facility since they constitute a distraction to others.
7. Any other activity not related to an instructional program or sanctioned by a faculty member.
8. People should not bring children with them when coming to take a test or when using the open lab tutoring centers.
