

How to use the Virginia Western Conference Room Technology

There are three versions of conference rooms on campus. The technology and operation are all the same but the installation might be different.

To begin, Turn on the display using the remote control or control panel. By default, AirMedia will display. To use AirMedia, please see the accompanying document.

To use the local computer, find the computer in the location based on installation and turn the unit on. The computer will override AirMedia.

Use the computer like normal to access applications like Zoom, PowerPoint, or your virtual desktop. The supplied keyboard and mouse are wireless and can be used anywhere in the room.

Use the black remote with the red button to pan, tilt, or zoom the conference room camera.

*Note: These cameras will detect the room occupants and automatically frame and focus the shot accordingly!
